PROFESSIONAL BIOGRAPHY

Unlike most kids, Todd Jones a.k.a. the Donutologist's first love wasn't video games, sports, or shoes. It was donuts. Over 40 years in business has earned Todd Jones several accolades, appearances, and the title of the Donutologist, America's donut connoisseur.

Jones's training began at the age of fifteen when he worked at a store called A Cup and Two. Under the guidance of the owner, he made his first donut. While Jones enjoyed his humble beginnings, he spent the next 25 years at one of the largest Dunkin Donuts franchises in Long Island as the highest paid baker in history.

The young boy from Harlem, New York became know as the baker who prepared donuts with precision and passion. While he kneaded, molded, and baked donuts, there was a bigger dream being cooked inside of him. Jones desired to be an entrepreneur, mentor, and the owner of a billion dollar global brand. Fast forward a few years, and Jones set out to make his D.R.E.A.M. (Donuts Rule Everything Around Me) a reality.

In November 1993, Jones opened Cuzin's Duzin in Downtown Brooklyn, and New Yorkers welcomed the mini donuts with open arms.

Locals and tourists fell in love with the delicious, bite-sized donuts, and Jones caught the attention of household companies like Google and Twitter. With mobile services in high demand, Sweet Dreams Catering Company was birthed to bring the sweet experience to intimate gatherings, birthdays, weddings, and other events. In 2012, Jones also added his signature liquor infused treats, Donuts for Grown Ups, to the menu.

Todd Jones aka the Donutologist is well known for his tasty mini donut treats all over the world. He brings over 40 years of expertise, passion, and innovation, catching the attention of media outlets such as Oprah Magazine. Now coined Sweet Dreams Mini Donuts by The Donutologist, the brand continues to thrive.

His accolades include 2015 People's Choice Award at the Atlanta Family Food Fest, 2013 Dessert Expo Winner, 6th Annual Unsung Angel Award City of Newark and other recognitions.

"Despite a preponderance of hearty dishes, the show stealer at the end of the day were the sweet desserts that rounded out the three hour event. First, the inventive folks at Sweet Dreams who brought with them a mini doughnut factory, pumping out freshly made mini "Ciroc Donuts," served piping hot and doused in powdered sugar. These were absolutely incredible and forced us to return time and again like we had a drug habit."

"Cuzin's Duzin has the coolest donut-making machine, which is almost as much fun as eating the hot, sugar coated donuts that it makes. This magical contraption is designed to be portable, and Todd can bring it to your Halloween parties, weddings, bar and bat mitzvahs, birthday parties, and even to your office if you want to make your employees really happy. Way better than a pony! Todd can make donuts in a variety of flavors, including strawberry, chocolate and cinnamon, and he has been known to spice them up with a dash of Hennessy or Cyroc for the grown-ups in the room."
